How can we prove that $F(x)$ is the integral of e^{it} is equal to 0 ? $F(x) = \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} e^{it} dt$ Or can we just calculate $F(x)$ as $\frac{1}{2} + \frac{1}{2}e^{ix} + \frac{1}{2}e^{-ix}$ A: $\int_{-\infty}^{\infty} e^{it} dt = -\int_{-\infty}^{\infty} e^{-it} dt$. Here's my version of the same: A primer on international management and leadership consulting firms AUC Research provides an overview of the international management and leadership consulting industry.

Most of the global consultancy firms are structured similarly. Their functions are: (1) Management Consulting Services (2) Performance Improvement Services (3) Strategic Management Services (4) Organizational Development Services (5) Culture Management Services (6) Data Management Services (7) Inventories, analyses, and research services (8) Knowledge Management Services (9) Brand Management Services (10) Management, Regulatory, and Security Consultancy Services (11) IT services, including information technology and telecommunications services (12) Project Services (13) Program Support Services To start with, companies seem to be more interested in doing business in Asia than in Latin America. The consulting market seems to be less fragmented now than in the past. So the industry is still healthy. Companies will continue to diversify away from the U.S. and Canada. This includes geographic diversification and diversification of services geographically. The industry appears to be fairly healthy. Regards Mark Taylor Vice President
