Assign a button to reduce the mouse speed The default button for mouse slowdown is the Windows key. However, it can be swapped for the Apps key, F4 or F8, any mouse buttons, or the scrollwheel. In addition, you can access the Mouse Properties dialog to customize settings for the horizontal and vertical scrolling, adjust the pointer speed, and so on. SlowMousion can be asked to automatically run at every Windows startup until further notice. It's also possible to disable it instead of exiting the program. Evaluation and conclusion There were no stability issues in our tests, thanks to the fact that the software utility didn't hang, crash or prompt error messages. As we expected, it left a small footprint on system resources consumption, as it needed a low amount of CPU and RAM to work properly Too bad that it doesn't implement an option for setting a custom keyboard. On the other hand, we must also take into account that it hasn't been updated for a long while. Nevertheless, SlowMousion offers an intuitive and effective solution for temporarily reducing your mouse's speed on any axis, and it can handled by type of user with ease.
